About this Month's Group

The majority of clinical research on psychedelics and MDMA has focused on outcomes related to health and well-being; but these powerful substances can also have an impact on core dimensions of a person's identity. In conjunction with the first annual New York City salon hosted by the Women's Visionary Congress on March 12th, our March monthly group will focus on "Psychedelics, Gender and Identity." Has a psychedelic experience made you feel more empowered as a woman or a man? Has an experience caused you to question or transcend conventional gender roles? What effects might psychedelics have as people explore their sexuality, gender and identity? We encourage you to join us in this discussion and share your own stories of identity and transformation.
